

Sarah Rulfs

Sarah Rulfs is an experienced non-profit fundraising and organizational development professional with experience in New York City and New Mexico across culture, technology, housing, and economic development. Currently, Sarah is the Resource Development Director for Homewise, Inc. in Albuquerque where she leads an annual grant capital raise of $10-15 million and supports an annual debt capital raise of $20-30 million.

Previously, Sarah served as the Director of Development for the Rio Grande Community Development Corporation and a Resource Development Officer for The Grant Plant in Albuquerque. Prior to relocating to New Mexico, Sarah was an independent fundraising consultant working at the intersection of culture, technology, racial equity, and social justice. In New York City, Sarah served as the Associate Director of the Foundation for Contemporary Arts (FCA), the Manager of Institutional Giving at the Signature Theatre Company, and the Development Director of the Abingdon Theatre Company.